

Farming system profile and FSRDP

Dr. Md. Akhtar Hossain

Professor, Dept. of Fisheries, RU

Socio-economic profile: Key points

1. Total number of HHs and literacy rate (approximately)
2. Total population with per cent male and female (approximately)
3. The major and subsidiary occupations with the present HH
4. Land tenure systems- owner- farmers, tenurial farmers, crop sharing, leasing etc.
5. Farm category and category wise farm land or farmers (%0
6. Institutions in the village with number
7. Adjacent markets market day, price of inputs, products etc.
8. Average annual income per farm after category
9. Agricultural credit- sources, duration, rate of interest
10. Communication type to the district, thana/upazila, other places of interest (marketing, credit, education etc.)

Farming system profile: Key points

1. Crops- name and season, variety, production, interaction with other components
2. Livestock- animal types and number/farm, bird type and number/farm, feed, fodder, grazing land, production, interaction with others
3. Fisheries- water resources, fish culture, fish catching, fish species, production in pond, beel, haor, baor, ditch, interaction with others
4. Agroforestry- types of trees, (fruits, timber, fuel and others) and average number/farm, nursery if any, tree species in nurseries, interaction with others
5. Homestead- housing types, homestead size, presence of trees/plants, vegetables (summer/winter) grown, interaction with others
6. Problems and prospects of each component above

FSRDP (Farming System Research and Development program)

What are the key points for impact analysis in FSRDP?

1. Visible impact- crop, livestock, fish, agroforestry etc.
2. Invisible impact- income, nutrition attitude etc.

Why impact analysis is required in FSRDP?

- To evaluate activities and
- To recommend further research effort

What are the indicators of impact analysis?

1. Economic- yield/production, income, labour use, labour productivity
2. Social- nutrition, education, clothing, medicare, housing etc.

